

NHS Shared Business Services

Construction Consultancy and Ancillary Services

NHS Shared Business Services (NHS SBS) are a limited joint venture between the Department of Health and Sopra Steria, a consultancy specialising in digital practices through consultancy, IT and business solutions. The Group's main objective is to drive improved procurement and commercial efficiencies across the health economy and public sector.

The Healthcare Planning, Construction Consultancy and Ancillary Services framework provides a quick and flexible route to appoint Pick Everard to deliver consultancy, expert technical advisory and multi-professional design services. The agreement covers a full range of services that can be called off for both planned and ad-hoc requirements. Through our appointment with NHS SBS, our teams can offer a national consultancy service to support the needs of any capital programme. To add flexibility, this framework agreement does not have a mandated form of contract and allows the user to choose the form that is most suited to their requirement and meets their internal procurement regulations.

Pick Everard has been a proud supplier to NHS Shared Business Services since 2014, adding value and achieving time saving benefits that our clients enjoy throughout our appointments.
